BBC Microcomputer and Electron games

Go crystal-hunting in a monster-infested labyrinth!
Or fire-fighting against a trail-blazing firebug.
Do you dream of journeying through magical and mystical worlds searching for treasure?

Or how about dicing with death as a gladiator in an arena littered with hostile alien creatures?

Perhaps snatching victims from the jaws of an erupting volcano is your idea of fun?

Such exploits are not for the faint-hearted. They call for razor-sharp reactions, tremendous powers of concentration and a photographic memory!

But if you're game for adventure, read on!

A'C

This is a game for advanced adventurers. Your voyage of discovery begins in the deceptively peaceful setting of an English landscape but continues through over 400 different locations. Your objective is to survive long enough to find a hidden cave, huge beyond imagination. Once inside, you embark on a fantastic treasure-hunt in the mysterious world within the cavern.

Only for the BBC Micro.

ACHETON

O'R'N'S O

Bounce Arthur around the pyramid of cubes, changing the colour of each one to change its colour and score. After you complete more pyramids, you move on to higher levels. Jumping just once on each cube is not enough. You'll also face Sid Snake, Creepy Crabs and Sideways Sam who will challenge you. And don't forget Devious Dan who will steal the cubes back again to their original colour.

QUONDAM

BOUNCER

For experienced adventurers only, this is a journey through the magical, medieval world of Quondam. Your objective is to find and collect the treasures scattered throughout this mysterious land and to deposit them in a safe place. Be cautious, though, for there are traps for the unwary – and many things are not as they seem . . .

TETRAPOD

Crash-landing your spacecraft on an alien planet, you find yourself taken prisoner and dumped into an arena littered with dormant lizards and other hostile creatures. It's a battle to the death requiring skill and razor-sharp reactions. All bullets, yours or an opponent's, will bounce around the wall of the arena until they hit something – so beware, as even your own could be lethal.

CRAZY TRACER

Chased by a motley bunch of monsters you must guide your paint roller round the edge of a maze of rectangles. As you complete four sides of the rectangle, it is automatically coloured in. You gain extra points by colouring a rectangle containing one of the objects which appear at random. But make sure you don't run out of paint and watch out, for the number of monsters will increase.

GO

Go is an ancient board game for two players, with a tradition in the Far East going back thousands of years. It requires strategic insight and intuition as well as a strong calculating mind. The basic object of the game is to occupy areas of the board with 'stones' (either black or white). The player who controls most territory at the end of the game is the winner.

FIREBUG

Watch out for the trail-blazing firebug! While you are rescuing buckets of highly inflammable liquid and carrying them to the safety of a water tank, a firebug is racing around lighting fires! Armed with a fire extinguisher you have to put the fires out – but can you get there in time?

MAZE

Find your way around the maze of corridors inside a top secret installation. Your mission? To steal company secrets from your rival. A computer-controlled lift is your only way to each level of the building and you have to find the key to operate it. But tread carefully – robot guards have orders to shoot on sight.

LABYRINTH

Mork is lost in the labyrinth – a hidden world of magic crystals, poison mushrooms, strange creatures and energy-giving fruit. Use your skill and memory to guide him through this monster maze. The object of the game is to find and collect the magic crystals which dissolve the force-fields existing between each level of the labyrinth. But beware – there are many strange creatures lurking in the depths of the labyrinth – and none of them are friendly!

Emergency! Four men are stranded on Mount Crona, an erupting volcano. In constant danger from the boulders flying from the mouth of the volcano, you have to haul each man to the safety of your Emergency Rescue Helicopter. It's a race against time. If the molten lava reaches the men they will die and become ghosts – dangerous and indestructible!
