Dear Developer,

Acorn has a fully operational Developer Support scheme, which has now been running for just under a year. If you are not already subscribed to our service, take a look at what we offer:

• Access to password-protected Developer WWW site (including programming examples).
• Developer hardware / software / documentation purchase scheme
• Priority email interface to support engineers
• Access to up to date hardware and software Developer Support documentation
• Technology licensing agreements
• "Hard" advance information on forthcoming systems / software
• Pre-release "advance / evaluation copy" scheme (at discretion of relevant project manager)
• Rights to distribute specific binaries, by arrangement

Under construction:
• Third-party Product Directory, online and publicly searchable via http://www.acorn.co.uk/ ; your products could be listed here and links to your own site could he made...

Subscription to the scheme costs £120 + VAT per annum.

We do not offer assistance in porting RISC OS applications to non-Acorn platforms, support for Xemplar's SchoolServer product, support for PC Cards, Microsoft operating systems or anything running under them; there is also no official support for highly detailed programming or hardware interfacing queries.

If you are interested in further details, please email James Abela (jabela@acom.co.uk) for information.

Regards,

Dave Walker
Engineering Support Manager
